RNO to highlight two summer festivals

Founding Orchestra of Napa Valley Festival del Sole

“The Art of Life” is the theme of two festivals this summer: Festival Del Sole – which debuts this July in Napa Valley, California, and Italy’s Tuscan Sun Festival, now in its fourth year. The Russian National Orchestra will participate in both festivals, each featuring performances by the world’s most acclaimed musical artists, along with art exhibitions, discussions with top literary figures and culinary delights with the finest chefs and winemakers. The inaugural Festival del Sole will be held July 16-23, 2006, and will be followed by the Tuscan Sun Festival, based in Cortona, Italy, from August 5-20, 2006.

Among the headliners of the inaugural Festival Del Sole in Napa Valley are Renée Fleming, Anne Sofie von Otter, Joshua Bell, Piotr Anderszewski, Sarah Chang, Nina Kotova, Frederica Von Stade, Samuel Ramey, Christopher Taylor, Nikolaj Znaider and the Emerson Quartet. The Russian National Orchestra will be led by prominent conductors Alan Gilbert, Stéphane Denève and Carlo Ponti, Jr. Performances will take place at Lincoln Theater in Yountville and other venues reflecting the natural beauty of the region, including selected wineries.

and pre- and post-concert receptions and dinners. Wine tasting events featuring Napa’s best, as well as comparative tastings with wines from Italy and other regions, will be among the offerings. The Napa Valley Museum will host a major exhibition in connection with the Festival, highlighting the link between the worlds of music and wine.

Festival del Sole’s Co-Founder and Director, Richard Walker said, “With the launch of Festival del Sole, the Napa Valley, already renowned for its fabled wine and cuisine, joins the ranks of the world’s leading cultural destinations as well. The spectacular roster of artists appearing on stages across Napa Valley next July will quickly establish the Festival del Sole at the front ranks of international summer festivals.”

With the charming Teatro Signorelli, the atmospheric medieval open-air Piazza Signorelli and Fortezza Medicea as venues for the Tuscan Sun Festival concerts, Cortona continues to distinguish itself as the ideal host of the annual Italian event. Frances Mayes, one of the Festival’s artistic directors and whose book and film, Under the Tuscan Sun helped introduce Cortona to the world, says, “The Tuscan Sun Festival is a wonderful way of bringing the joys of Tuscany to life. Those of us who love living in Cortona are delighted to help create a tradition that honors its heritage and celebrates its future.”

The 2006 Tuscan Sun Festival will include such distinguished artists as Anna Netrebko, Antonio Pappano, Dmitri Hvorostovsky, Lang Lang, Joshua Bell, Susan Graham, Nina Kotova, Pinchas Zuckerman, Marcelo Alvarez, Vadim Repin, Sarah Chang, Piotr Anderszewski, Dmitry Sitkovetsky, and Nikolaj Znaider. The Russian National Orchestra, Chamber Orchestra of the Royal Opera House, and New European Strings Chamber Orchestra will all perform.

“We are extremely excited about creating these unique events that unite the world’s best and most adventurous music making in concert with the visual, literary and culinary arts. We could not imagine a better place than Napa Valley for the expansion of our concept already thriving in Tuscany,” said Barrett Wissman, Chairman of IMG Artists, founder of the Tuscan Sun Festival and co-founder of the Festival del Sole.

Cruise the Volga

WITH THE RUSSIAN NATIONAL ORCHESTRA

April 25 - May 7, 2006

Join the Russian National Orchestra for an unforgettable trip!

Experience the wonders of Moscow...
Cruise the mighty Volga River...

Attend performances by Russia's finest classical musicians and travel with them through the heart of Russia...

Who better to show you the artistic treasures of Russia than the RNO, whose expert staff and local guides will give you a taste of the best in Russia's performing and visual arts.

On board the Glushkov, you will journey with the musicians of the world-famous Russian National Orchestra

(Russia's top symphony orchestra and the only one ever to win a GRAMMY) into the rich culture of the Russian heartland. You will see the majestic and beautiful towns where ancient Rus first took root, and will visit prosaic country churches, peaceful monasteries, bustling provincial marketplaces and artistic centers.

You will enjoy full orchestra and select chamber concerts. You will be treated to guided tours and specially-catered meals, and will socialize with the musicians in intimate gatherings. Receptions and events with civic leaders and the public are planned in several cities. In Moscow, you will spend two days on custom-designed cultural tours. There will also be special wine tastings and dinners on board.

The orchestra's eighth annual Volga tour features concerts conducted by Alexander Vedernikov, Artistic Director of the Bolshoi Theater.

Tour stops include Nizhny Novgorod, Kazan, Samara, Saratov and additional Volga towns. The ship selected for this tour is the Glushkov, a three-story cruise ship that carries 240 passengers. The ship was built in Germany in 1997 and therefore is one of the most modern cruise ships plying Russian rivers today. It has two restaurants and bars, a concert hall, sun deck, sauna, laundry, souvenir shop and a doctor on board.

As part of this special Volga River cruise, guests will be treated to the RNO's Music & Arts of Moscow Tour, featuring intimate tours of the best in the capital's visual and performing arts.

Prices for the 12-day RNO Volga River Cruise begin at $3500 for a Main Deck cabin, with several upgrades possible.

Prices include: accommodation in outside cabins with private bathroom, individual climate control and large picture window; three full meals each day; Captain's Welcome Cocktail Reception; gala farewell dinner; sightseeing programs; nightly entertainment and dancing; prime seating at concerts and special events; open rehearsals on board the ship; daily aerobics classes; tour of the ship's bridge; visa invitation. Prices also include a contribution to the U.S. not-for-profit Russian Arts Foundation.

LATE BREAKING NEWS!

Britain's Prince Michael of Kent, Royal Patron of the RNO, will join the Volga Cruise for several days leading up to and including the visit to Kostroma on May 2. The concert in Kostroma will herald the inauguration of a new bass bell, weighing eight tons, which The Prince Michael of Kent Foundation is donating to Ipatiev Monastery in Kostroma, at the request of the city, Archbishop and the Governor of the region. The Ipatiev Monastery is closely linked with the Romanov dynasty, to which Prince Michael of Kent is related. The Monastery protected Prince Mikhail Romanov and his mother during the Time of Troubles and was the site of his acceptance of the crown as the first Romanov tsar in 1613.

A Memorial Concert to Russian-American journalist Paul Klebnikov, former editor-in-chief of the Russian edition of Forbes, will be given in Saratov on April 27. Klebnikov was gunned down in Moscow in July 2004, a tragedy with worldwide repercussions. The Saratov concert will be the first of a series of four memorial concerts, to be held also in Moscow, Tver and St Petersburg. Russian President Vladimir Putin is among the patrons of the memorial events.
